Lake Country artists Alison Beaumont and Lynette Schlichting come together with Vancouver based artists Katherine Coe and Eve Leader for the exhibition Significance Stares at Me from Everywhere.

Alison Beaumont is a photography/digital artist and her video installation, Left Behind, occupies the front portion of the gallery while Lynette Schlichting's assemblage sculptures meander throughout the gallery. Lynette Schlichting has a diverse background in film, set and costume design and combines this knowledge with her visual art practice. Eve Leader's paintings and drawings are displayed on the walls and Katherine Coe's installation fills the back of the gallery. Eve Leader's abstract paintings are haunting and speak to the human condition. Katherine Coe is a multidisciplinary artist bringing drawing, printmaking, sculpture into her installation work.

Through drawing, painting, sculpture, installation and video, Beaumont, Coe, Leader and Schlichting discuss contemporary subjects, the mystery of life, darkness and beauty. Significance Stares at Me from Everywhere is up at the LC Art Gallery until August 16th.
